

Premier Wireless Connecting People to Resources (CPR) for Pennsylvania Students Experiencing Homelessness

Internet-equipped cellphones keep students experiencing homelessness connected to their school, resources, and vital support systems. Service-equipped cellphone devices are now available for Pennsylvania children and youth experiencing homelessness at no cost to them.

In partnership with Premier Wireless Connecting People to Resources (CPR) program and T-Mobile, LEA Homeless Liaisons may now request a service-equipped cellphone for McKinney-Vento Act eligible children and youth in their schools.

- Devices are available at no cost to school or students.
- A limited number of devices are now available.
- Devices are customized with important apps and resources.
- Service duration up to March 1, 2026.

Eligibility

- Request for devices must be made by the school Homeless Liaison.
- Students must be eligible and identified for McKinney-Vento to receive a device.
- Approved requests are shipped to the school Homeless Liaison for distribution to the student.
